Dr. David J. Lose, The Marbury E. Anderson Chair in Biblical Preaching
Sally J. Peters, Director, Center for Lifelong Learning

Christians struggle to make meaningful connections between their faith and the complicated lives they lead in their homes, workplaces and communities. Congregations can become places where God's people come together to be equipped for their callings in the world. Discover the theology, practices and new attitudes toward church and work that shape Christian identity and vocation. Drawing on the Bible, theology and popular culture, explore how congregations can encourage their members to participate creatively in God's mission of hope and redemption in today's world.

Bethany House of Studies highly recommends this event for pastors and congregational leaders. Attend together and take the program back to your congregations. This program may be used for simple lifelong learning, as continuing education for pastors and PMAs, and as an elective in the Parish Ministry Associate Program (requires additional work).

The purpose of the Bethany House of Studies is to: promote Lifelong Learning; offer continuing education; support the Parish Ministry Associate Program; and strengthen the Parish Ministry Associate/Supervising Pastor connection.

This event counts as continuing education contact hours for PASTORS and PMAs. For more information, contact Bethany House of Studies Administrator Pastor Dick Monson (Monsonrb@aol.com, 620-241-6003), Kris Swanson, PMA, (bethanypma@ks-usa.net, 785-227-2167), or Sharon Custer, PMA (sncuster@cox.net, 620-653-4575)
